CARL SCHURZ ON THE OHIO ELECTION.—The New York Herald has a report of an interview with Mr. Schurz, from whose interesting statements we take the following:

"It is very questionable whether the defeat of the inflation movement in Ohio will have such an effect in the West as to definitely put that issue out of our politics for the next year. Those who know the West are aware that inflation is very strong there, and that it commands a large majority of the Democratic party in that region, especially, perhaps, in the extreme Northwestern States, including Illinois. If the inflationists had been beaten by a very large majority in Ohio the result would probably have discouraged them so much as to induce them to give it up, but, the majority being small, they may feel warranted in trying again, and [illegible] this organization of legal tender clubs, which they have already begun and which they intend to establish on a large scale. Besides, the Ohio election returns show that while a small number of hard money Democrats voted against Allen, a much larger number of soft-money Republicans voted for him. It appears that a great many Republicans must have gone over to Allen, leaving it to the Independents, including the Germans and what hard money Democrats appealed to their principles rather than their party, to make up Hayes's majority.

The inflationists believe that they will be strong enough to accomplish their purpose with the aid of the inflation Democracy of the South, and to control—if not the majority—at least more than one-third of the Democratic National Convention, and if the inflation sentiment of the South is as strong as the southern representation in Congress would lead us to believe, they might, indeed, form a very powerful combination. If they had succeeded in Ohio the movement would no doubt have swept almost irresistibly over a large part of the West and the entire South, with the exception of Texas. Even as it is, it may appear very formidably there.

We shall have to go steadily on with the propagation of sound doctrines, and especially will we have to prepare the way for the active co-operation of all the hard-money forces, now divided by old party lines. It will not do at all to underestimate the strength of the inflation element, and the Ohio election has shown that it can draw largely upon the Republican party, even when that party in its official capacity takes different ground, while in the Democratic party it is evidently in many States of controlling strength. While, therefore, there is little doubt that the good sense and honesty of the American people would overcome, with proper effort, all the strength of the inflation movement, yet this proper effort must be made, and an energetic co-operation of all those who think alike on this question is not only desirable but almost indispensable.

ARCTIC VOYAGING.

THE CRUISE OF THE STEAMER PANDORA.

A London special of 17th inst. to the N. Y. Herald gives the following account of the cruise of the Pandora in the Arctic Sea:

The Arctic exploring steamer Pandora arrived at Portsmouth yesterday. She left Disco on the 7th of August and Upernavik on the 13th, crossing Melville Bay without mishap, for the usual fields of pack ice were not visible and almost a clear sheet of water was found. At Carey Islands no signs of the government exploring expedition were visible. Captain Young decided to steer for Lancaster Sound, where he encountered the first ice floes. With great difficulty the Pandora forced her way, despite the ice. She succeeded in traversing the entire length of Barrow Strait, reaching Beechy Island August 25. She there found the yacht Mary, which had been drawn up on the beach in 1850 by Captain Ross. The yacht was still standing with her masts upright. The storehouse built for the benefit of the sailors or castaways of ice-bound vessels was found in a state of terrible confusion. The destruction of the stores was accomplished by polar bears, as tracks of these animals were visible in every direction. The head boards over the graves of Sir John Franklin's men buried there were still in a good state of preservation. On the 28th the Pandora steamed for Peel Strait, where she encountered vast fields of pack ice, which made the passage a most difficult and dangerous one. The Pandora steadily worked her way onward and soon passed the farthest point reached by the Fox when McClintock was in search of Franklin relics. Soon after reaching that point the Pandora neared King William's Land thus navigating a sea which no ship ever traversed before, except, perhaps, those of Franklin. The Pandora steamed down the coast of Prince of Wales Land, and encountered most delicious weather. The atmosphere was soft and refreshing, and the bitter cold of the Arctic zone replaced by warm-air currents and an expanse of water. Intense excitement prevailed among the officers and men of the expedition, as it was expected important results were at hand. On reaching [illegible] Islands they saw the edge of a solid pack of ice, which extended across the strait from side to side in one unbroken expanse. This pack blocked the entrance to Bellot's Strait. The Pandora stayed at this point until the 7th of September, when, finding no further progress possible, it was decided useless to go into winter quarters and far better to return next year. The return journey was full of difficulties as the ice was rapidly forming, and the passage of the Pandora was a constant series of exciting scenes and narrow escapes from moving ice floes. Finally escaping through Peel Strait, the ice rapidly forming and accumulating, the steamer at length reached Carey Islands in safety. From Melville Bay the homeward voyage was almost uneventful. Captain Young reports that from the prevalence of north winds there is abundant promise that Captain Nares will prove successful. The Pandora only lost two topgallant yards and two jibbooms during the entire voyage.

THE WATERVILLE GHOST.—The Waterville Mail says:—"The Waterville Ghost is not laid—if by that is meant the silencing of the mysterious voice; and though none but the ignorant and superstitious claim for it a supernatural origin, yet few who have heard it are satisfied with any of the hypothetical explanations. Men who have travelled and camped in the woods enough to be familiar with the voice of every wild creature in Maine, scout the idea of the sound being produced by either hog cat or screech owl. As described, there is a peculiar quality in the tone that begets a creeping horror in the nerves and a desire to get away from it which is hard to control. "I have heard it several times and it is like no other sound I ever heard. Its effect is different, and I am free to acknowledge that if I should hear it while alone in the night, I should certainly run." And this informant is a man much more easily coaxed than either frightened or driven.

The first that was known of it at the railroad depot a man came into Marcy's saloon, and in an excited manner, insisted that some one should go up the track to the relief of one who had been run over by the train which had just passed and whose outcries he said he had heard as he came down the Fairfield road. In response to appeals like this, on two occasions men have gone up the track, getting nearer to the sound until apparently almost upon it, when, all at once finding it in the rear, they have turned about only to have it elude them again. "Look here," said one of the searchers, suddenly coming to a halt, "I don't know what the rest of you think of this and you can stay as long as you like; but I'm going home, and I'm going to be in a hurry about it, too," and he hastily retreated, closely followed by his companions. A half dozen other brave fellows, who boasted that they were not afraid of screech owls, wild cats or ghosts, went up one evening, determined to ferret out the humbug; but having apparently got close to the sound, which came up out of the ground, or all around them, as they said, they weakened and left, leaving the whole thing as much a mystery as ever."

THE BLACK HILLS.

REPORT OF PROF. JENNY ON THE GOLD MINES.

Prof. Walter P. Jenny, Chief Geologist of the Black Hills expedition, and assistants returned to Cheyenne on Saturday, having spent five months in the Hills, and made quite a thorough examination of the whole country, and mapped it from Bellefourche to the South Fork of the Cheyenne river. He reports gold fields extending forty miles north from Harney's Peak, and twenty miles wide; that there is gold in quantities that will pay from three to five dollars per day to the man, and there are bars on numbers of streams that will pay much more than that. The water supply is ample for washing purposes, and is fully sufficient to carry water from the top to most of the bars and allow the tailings to be readily disposed of. The gold is coarse, the scale good, and is easily separated from sand and gravel.

The Professor has with him an ounce of coarse gold that two men obtained on Spring Creek, with ten hours labor. An assay of this gold shows it to be nine hundred and forty five fine, worth $19.43 coin to the ounce. Professor Jenny corroborates General Custer's report of the Hills and says that they will support thousands of miners when the Government opens them to settlement. The valleys are adapted to agriculture and the hills and canons to stock raising. The rain fall is plentiful and timber abundant. His official report will be made from New York before Congress meets.

THE E. & N. A. RAILWAY.

The interests to be directly and indirectly affected by the action of the holders of the bonds of the E. & N. A. Railway company are important and wide-reaching, and there is no reason to doubt that the gentlemen now consulting as to the most desirable method of procedure, recognize the nature of the difficulties to be encountered and wish to act with deliberation, fairness and prudence. In a matter involving private and pecuniary interests of large amount, which are represented by the parties directly interested, it would be obviously out of place for a public journal to obtrude advice upon gentlemen amply competent to deal with their own affairs and those entrusted to their care, and we feel warranted only in urging that, in whatever is decided upon, a wise regard be had for the public interests interwoven so closely with those of an individual character.

The maintenance of the efficiency of the road is alike important to the holders of its securities and to the public, and the same mutuality of interests requires that such a policy be pursued as will tend to increase its usefulness by developing its resources and augmenting its business. The action to be taken by the bondholders of the road cannot fail to affect these objects either favorably or otherwise, and we hope that such measures may be decided upon as will afford the most equitable adjustment of the existing embarrassments and at the same time secure to the public the full benefit of the line and give it steady progress toward a sound financial basis.

If the Democratic party is still bent upon violating, when it shall get the power, the good faith of the Government, there is very little reason to expect that such wrong will be its only disgraceful and dangerous measure. Very naturally it would supplement such an outrage upon the people by an expansion of the currency, which would render bonds and greenbacks alike valueless. There is no security for property, no possibility of a general revival of business, so long as it is uncertain whether the Ohio Democracy is the exponent of that party in the country, and whether that party can obtain the power of the General Government.—Providence Journal.

And still the N. Y. World and Boston Post continue to belabor the unfortunate Ohio "rag-baby," and contemptuously ignore the ponderous denunciations hurled at them by the Bangor Commercial. We tremble for the fate of those "insectivorous journals" when the wrath of the scorned Bourbon bursts in full force upon their devoted heads. What! shall the Penobscot organ of the Maine "hard-money Democracy" howl for weeks at the metropolitan journals without one line of recognition? The memories of 1861 forbid it!

Hon. Austin Blair of Michigan wrote to the late hard-money State Convention: "Unless we are ready to fling away the reputation of our country and run after humiliations, all the money we have borrowed, whether on bonds or greenbacks, must be honestly paid. That can be done only in the old-fashioned way of industry and economy. I have not the slightest doubt that this will be done. We defended successfully the territorial integrity of the country, and now we shall defend and preserve its financial character as well."

THE RED CLOUD REPORT. The Providence Journal says: "We give this morning a long abstract of the report just made by the commission appointed to investigate Prof. Marsh's sweeping charges of fraud in Indian affairs, especially as administered at the Red Cloud Agency. The commission find some of the allegations of Prof. Marsh absolutely disproved; in some other cases, fraud was evident; and in relation to others of the charges, the commission report the evidence without expressing an opinion. The attempt to connect the late Secretary of the Interior with the frauds fails. Saville, the agent at the Red Cloud agency, is declared to be an honest but incompetent man, who should be removed. The contractor for beef, against whom Prof. Marsh made his severest charges, is completely exonerated from every imputation and charge of fraud. The contractor for the pork supplies was found guilty of fraud. The flour, the commission found, had been adulterated by the wiley Red Cloud, for Prof. Marsh's inspection. Upon the whole, the work of the commission will doubtless have a good effect, but will hardly prove satisfactory to the partizans of the man upon whose allegations the commission was created."

THE MISSING YOUNG WOMAN. Miss Ella Clapp, who disappeared so mysteriously from Augusta last week, is described as five feet, three inches in height, of light complexion, with blue eyes and light hair, which hung down her back in one braid. She wore a gray dress and polonaise, trimmed with black, a blue and green plaid shawl and a black straw hat.

"We are for specie payments and no steps backward; but the path through which we would reach it is that pointed in the financial planks of the Ohio Platform."—[Commercial.

There's richness! We must leave the spanking of that child to the New York World, as a family matter. "A return to specie via unlimited inflation!" The child has been reading Nasby without seeing the joke.

The Chicago Tribune says the result in Ohio has split the Democratic party in twain on the financial question, and it believes that if inflation and repudiation doctrines do not prevail in the Democratic National Convention the inflationists and repudiationists will set up a candidate of their own.

The Machias Republican says that several persons in that town who take the Bangor Commercial lost money by bets on the Ohio election, based upon the predictions of that paper. Its reliable character ought to be pretty well known by this time.

The Argus at last acknowledges that there was an inflation plank in the Ohio Democratic platform. Now we shall see the Bangor Commercial rescuing for the scalp of the Argus.—Portland Press.

The Bangor Commercial's reckless predictions of a Democratic victory in Ohio, led some of the credulous Machias Democrats to make foolish bets and lose their money, as we learn from the Republican of that town.—Kennebec Journal.

Its sensational articles after the election caused some of the simpletons to indulge in losing wagers here.

The latest count gives Gov. Hayes' majority [illegible], with a Republican majority of [illegible] on joint ballot in the Legislature.

President Orton, of the Western Union Telegraph, says that for all telegraphic purposes the English language is from 25 to 30 per cent. cheaper than the French, German, or any other language, and that the economy of its use has been thoroughly established.

MR. MCCULLOCH'S REMEDY. In his last letter from London on the finances, ex-Secretary McCulloch gives the following opinion:

"The remedy is to be found—and in my judgment is to found only—in the gradual retirement of the legal tender notes and in fixing a time after which they shall cease to be a legal tender. Whatever is done should not be done hastily, but the time for temporizing has passed. Action, and decided action, upon a matter of so great importance ought not to be longer postponed. If I were a member of Congress, my first act would be to introduce a bill making United States notes at once convertible into bonds bearing interest at a rate of 4 or 4½ per cent. in gold, with a provision that bank notes to an amount equal to the notes which may thus be retired may be issued, if required by the banks, and that from and after the first day of January, 1878, the United States notes shall cease to be a legal tender.

Should there be at that time, or at any time, an excess of bank note circulation, the excess would be of short duration. What were not needed for use would be sent home for redemption. If the banks were unable to redeem them they would go into liquidation, and their notes would be redeemed at the United States Treasury. The passage of such an act would, in my judgment, tend at once to prevent coin from flowing out of the country and to restore confidence in the future. It is disheartening to think that the products of our mines, averaging from $70,000,000 to $100,000,000 per annum, have been going steadily out of the country since 1848, with so little to show for them. Unless steps are taken to prevent it, this outflow will still continue. Let it be understood that the specie standard is to be restored within the next two or three years, and this outflow will cease, or be rapidly diminished, not so much by a diminution of imports as by a restoration of confidence, and an increase of enterprise and production which would so enlarge our exports that coin would not be in much demand for the payment of our foreign debt."

POLITICAL AND PERSONAL.

The Bishop of Montreal warns his flock not to interfere with Guibord's burial, and renews his threat of cursing the grave.

Randall Hunt, formerly Sheriff of Kennebec County, Maine, died in Washington Monday of senile debility while being conveyed to the Poor House in an ambulance.

Had the cause of the people gloriously triumphed in Ohio we might, in the exuberance of victory, have forgiven Sam Tilden and our other enemies. But not now.—Cincinnati Enquirer (Dem.)

The Swallow-Tails have slain and scalped the Democracy of Ohio. But in doing so they have slaughtered their own chief. William Allen may not rise up again, but Samuel Tilden is as dead as Sam Cary.—Nashville American (Dem.)

The Boston Transcript, instead of the traditional rooster that is often placed at the head of the column which announces a political victory, places over the news from Ohio a representation of the American twenty dollar gold coin.

The New York Times is "going for" the present Boss of Tammany and would-be dictator of New York, and showing up his corrupt practices as Sheriff of the County some years ago. It figures up $87,864.93 of fraudulent charges and $11,-680.54 of illegal charges which he made, or $99,545.47 wrongfully obtained from the Treasury.—Boston Globe.

There is no probability that the soft-money Democrats will give up. They fought out the issue stubbornly in 1868, and were defeated; they will do it again in 1876, and will be again defeated. Their chances of success are less, however, now than they were in 1868, for there was then no split in the Democratic party. But next year the hard-money Democrats will decline to share the disgrace of the movement without any prospect of success.—Chicago Tribune (Rep.)

The Boston Journal of Commerce says that it is a little singular that, while so many are howling at the banks for being allowed to issue notes on which it is claimed a great profit is made, the banks are themselves relinquishing their bank-note circulation because it is largely unprofitable.

ITALIAN PRIESTS AND THE TURKS. The recent collapse of Turkish credit has seriously affected the clerical party at Rome, according to correspondence of the New York Times. It appears that when the Italian Government took possession of Rome the Papal debt was assumed by the new authority, and holders found themselves receiving interest at the rate of five per cent. as creditors of the common fund. The shares, of the par value of 100, stood at that time at about 60. A great many, if not most, of the Vatican people regarded the public debt of Italy as a profane and sacrilegious investment, notwithstanding thousands of monks and nuns receive pensions from the Government. To satisfy their consciences, large numbers of the priests' party sold out their Italian bonds at sixty and bought into the Turkish funds, then standing at fifty-six on the market. There was a small apparent gain, as the interest paid was the same, although the Sultan was obliged to borrow a large part of the money to pay it. But a great change has come in the interval, and the past three months have given a violent shock to former confidence. The Italian funds now stands at seventy-six, and the Turkish have fallen to thirty-five, with the prospect of going still lower. Some of the sharpest of the clericals have hurried to sell out, but not without the loss of a considerable part of their investment. It is an example of the short-sightedness of worldly wisdom and Papal infallibility, and has given opportunity to the Government journals to have their laugh at their opponents.

THE AUGUSTA MYSTERY

NO CLUE YET OBTAINED—VARIOUS CONJECTURES.

The Kennebec Journal of Tuesday says: "The strange disappearance of Miss Clapp is still the theme of public interest and inquiry. No clue has been obtained as to her whereabouts. The public excitement increases and the prevailing sentiment seems to be that she was kidnapped, or that she has been made way with. This is indeed a terrible thought, and if the theory of foul play is true, how insecure is human life, even in our quiet and law-abiding community.

The idea that the departure of the young lady was at all premeditated or prearranged seems to be entirely abandoned, as without any good foundation to rest upon. She seemed to be entirely incapable of making any arrangement of the kind. Before leaving the house on that Thursday night, she had made every preparation for returning. She had thrown back the bedclothes on her bed, that it might get warm before she retired, and made her nightclothes ready for retiring. On stepping out she told her mother she wouldn't take tea until she returned from the doctor's, and asked her to keep the tea warm. She was anxious to get some medicine from the doctor, that she might attend church on the next Sunday. She was a member of the Episcopal Church, and always looked forward with pleasure to the meetings of the Church. She formerly had a class in the Sunday School, which she was obliged to give up, though very reluctantly, on account of feeble health.

Ella was an affectionate and loving child at home, and [illegible] the only part of the world [illegible] for some time. [illegible] or was despondent [illegible] will come [illegible] but [illegible] had good health, that [illegible] to her parents, and [illegible] sorrowful that she was ill.

It is supposed by some that as she advanced towards Dr. Bell's office, she saw through the window several persons who were in the office at the time, and her timidity was so great that she did not choose to go in, but passed on; and that while she was walking, to while away the time, she was kidnapped and carried away, against her will. There is no possible way in which she could have made an appointment with any one, and the most diligent inquiries and investigations in that direction have failed to elicit any fact upon which the least fragment of a structure could be built to substantiate such a theory. The last evening that she spent out, before Thursday, was six weeks ago, when she spent the evening at Gen. Boynton's, who is a near neighbor.

The mill pond at Wyman's mill was dragged yesterday, but without making any discovery. It is the opinion of those who adopt the suicide theory that she threw herself into the river. The carriage trail was attempted to be followed up yesterday; and at one time it was thought that the chain of circumstances implicated a certain person, who was also questioned as to his whereabouts. But we understand that nothing has yet been elicited to warrant the bringing of any serious charges, much less the publication of the name of a person who may be entirely innocent. No arrests have been made. So the whole affair remains as much of a mystery as it was on the evening of last Thursday."

NEW MAGAZINES.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE for November concluding the fifty-first volume, is in itself a volume of rare pictorial and literary excellence. It opens with a magnificently illustrated article on the Living Glaciers of California, by John Muir. From a literary point of view, the most interesting paper is James T. Field's contribution, entitled, Barry Cornwall and Some of his Friends, crowded with characteristic and hitherto unrecorded reminiscences of the most eminent English writers of the Wordsworthian epoch, and illustrated with eighteen portraits, and a fac-simile of one of Procter's poems. James Parton discusses recent French Caricature, going over a period of half a century, and presenting an admirably selected group of pictures. W. E. Webb, in Air Towns and their Inhabitants, gives a graphic portraiture of the mushroom towns of Western civilization, and introduces the originals of these peculiar characterization that distinguished a recent style of American literature. The American Dairy industry—especially as the result of association—is the subject of an admirable and fully illustrated paper by Edward J. Wickson. A Catskill fairy tale, entitled, Rapp, the Gnome King, by Virginia W. Johnson, with six beautiful illustrations by Fredericks, will prove attractive to young readers. In the First Century series there is this month an able and comprehensive review of the progress of popular education in this country, by Eugene Lawrence. The Hon. S. S. Cox continues his papers on Legislative Humors, giving especial attention to the more boisterous manifestations of the British Parliament and of our Congress. Julian Hawthorne's Garth is continued, giving glimpses of the hero's college life. Edward Everett Hale contributes to this number a short story, The Modern Psyche, written in his happiest style. There is also a short story by Carroll Owen. The poetry of the number is contributed by R. H. Stoddard, T. B. Aldrich, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Celia Thaxter, Nora Perry and Mary N. Prescott. Harper & Bros., Publishers, New York. For sale at Bugbee's.

THE GALAXY for November is especially interesting, its make up in every particular being just what the reader will desire for reading. Miss Wager gives a sketch of Nannette Schiller, the beautiful and talented sister of the great German poet, who, if she had lived to fulfill the promise of budding womanhood, would have made the name of Schiller doubly illustrious. The description of the visit to Weimar—reception by the Princess Amalie, meeting with Goethe, and ovation at the theatre—is full of interest as an historical sketch and a vivid picture of the social life of that day. Another noticeable sketch is a review of the English matrimonial system in high life, entitled "The London Marriage Market." Julian Hawthorne contributes a graceful essay on smoking under the title of "A Peaceful Pipe." After comparing all the claims of the cigar, cigarette and various forms of pipe, he finally comes back to his favorite briar wood, and invites the reader to a smoke. Henry James, Jr., who seems to be of late a regular contributor has in this number a sketch of two remarkable French scientists, the Amperes father and son, whose romantic history is almost like a page from a novel. The storm theory of Prof. Blasius, who may be called the "Old Probabilities" of Germany, is analyzed and reviewed by Mr. Whitaker under the head of "Weather Wisdom." Richard Grant White gives vent to a brilliant display of verbal fencing, under the appalling title of "Heterophemy." Captain John Codman, who is so well known as a writer on the revival of American commerce and shipbuilding, as well as for his sketches of travel, contributes another graphic picture of the great mining fields of the West, written in the form of a narrative of personal observation and adventure. Next we find a very good short story, entitled "Twenty Years," by Miss Annie La Forge, and an article upon the battle of Chickamauga by Mr. Smith. There are three poems, one of them by F. W. Bourdillon, the English poet who is becoming so popular of late. This number also contains the concluding chapters of "Leah, A Woman of Fashion." Sheldon & Co., Publishers, New York.

THE OVERLAND MONTHLY for October which has just reached us, opens with a sketch of the "Antiquities of the Pacific States" which can but be appreciated by all readers. The article is finely illustrated and concise, yet not so much as to leave the reader unsatisfied. "The Frozen Truth" is a story which possesses some interesting phenomena. "A Fantasy of Roses" and "In a Californian Eden" are concluded in this number, which is one of the most interesting of the year. Those who read the monthly numbers of the Overland always find that in them which not only interests, but repays amply the time spent in the perusal. John H. Carmany & Co., Publishers, San Francisco, Cal.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

Sheldon & Co., will publish in a few days a second series of "Our Poetical Favorites," by Prof. A. C. Kendrick, of Rochester University. This volume will contain selections of longer English poems. The remarkable success of the first series proved that Dr. Kendrick, with his fine poetic taste, had made a selection of unusual excellence; and this new series will doubtless find a ready sale.

At the primary meeting for the election of delegates to the Democratic County Convention of Hudson County at Union Hill last night, two tickets were in the field, and before a hundred ballots had been cast one of the parties began an attack on the ballot boxes and destroyed a large number of tickets. A general fight ensued and the Judges of Election were roughly handled. The police arrested one of the ringleaders. A Letter to District Attorneys from Governor Tilden.

ALBANY, Oct 19. The following is a copy of a letter sent to every District Attorney of the State to-day:

Executive Chamber, Albany, Oct. 19th, 1875. Sir: The improper and illegal use of money at elections is in some portions of the State a serious and growing evil, sometimes threatening the unbiased will of the people and always debauching the public virtue of both officers and electors. You are familiar with the stringent statutes and the conditional provisions adopted last year relating to the subject and are aware that if they are vigorously enforced this evil will soon be eradicated. I expect that you will be vigilant in detecting and diligent in prosecuting persons guilty of the crime referred to within your county, and shall regard any dereliction of duty in this respect as a sufficient cause for removal from office.

I am yours, truly,
SAMUEL J. TILDEN.

NEW YORK, Oct 19. A Wilkesbarre, Pa., despatch, says there are charges that two of the coal companies have violated the agreement made with the combination as to the moving of coal which may lead to a rupture of the combination. The time in the Wilkesbarre mines has been reduced to three-quarters and it is believed that a general suspension of mining will take place in December. The companies now control the market so effectually and hold the laborers in such an iron grasp that they can venture upon this course with entire impunity. The prospect of an idle population of some 15,000 or 20,000 roaming about during the winter, is not agreeable, but the fact will stare us sternly in the face if the proposed plans of the coal combination are fully carried out.

MISSISSIPPI.

The Democratic State Committee's Agreement with Gov. Ames.

MEMPHIS, Oct. 19. In a treaty between Gov. Ames and the Democratic State Executive Committee at Jackson, Miss., whereby the militia was disbanded, the Committee assured the Governor that there was no other desire among the whites than that peace be preserved, the laws enforced and a fair election had, and the leading whites would do all in their power to this end. The Governor responded, that in view of this assurance he would meet their views as far as possible and would order all the militia companies to disperse and return to their homes. It was agreed that the arms of the companies should be deposited in depots in the neighborhood in which the companies were raised and guarded by United States troops, and be removed only by order of the Governor. The arms are not to be delivered to the militia except in case of riot or insurrection, which could not be suppressed by the civil authorities.

RICHINGS-BARNARD OPERA COMPANY. Have you purchased your tickets to Davenport's course of entertainments? If you have not, it is time you should; for the Richings-Barnard opera company open the course to-night. The artists are all superior, and the opera is thus spoken of by the Boston Post after its presentation in that city:

The plot of the piece is translated from a little French opera, entitled "[illegible]." The overture opens with a very pretty pastorale, and this is followed by an effective [illegible] [illegible] of peasants [illegible]. The next piece of importance is a very pretty and [illegible], "In your [illegible]," admirably sung by Miss Richings, and which would have encored an encore were it not for the fact that it is so quickly followed by a [illegible] [illegible] charming, and the accompaniment is quite Mozartish. The ballad in the final to the first act "It was a gallant warrior," is destined to become popular, and the duet "Grizzly bone, I've wealth in plenty," is another gem. Manifestly this opera is a success, and has been recognized as such by a continuance of crowded houses.

Miss Richings who is by all odds the most accomplished of native vocalists, sings sweetly, as purely and as powerfully as ever.

IN COMMON COUNCIL.

The Common Council took concurrent action on the above matter.

Meeting of Bondholders.

The bondholders of the consolidated E. & N. A. Railway Company held a meeting yesterday afternoon in City Hall, with a small number in attendance. Hon. J. S. Wheelwright was chosen chairman, and Hon. C. P. Stetson, Secretary. Resolutions were then offered by Hon. S. H. Blake, as follows:

The holders of the Land Grant bonds are largely Savings Banks or other fiduciary trustees; and these two classes of bondholders do not feel authorized by the trust under which they must act, if at all, and for the faithful observance of which they are responsible, to make any new agreement with the Directors of the E. & N. A. Railway Company whereby these securities shall be impaired or postponed: And the holders of bonds in their own right are not aware of any state of facts, nor are they advised of any law or equity arising out of the facts which calls upon them to give precedence to subsequent unsecured claims on the risk and hazard of possible loss upon the prior mortgage securities.

The holders of these bonds, therefore, do not approve and cannot entertain the propositions contained in the report of the Committee of the Floating Debt Creditors made through their chairman, Mr. Jackson, some days since.

Therefore resolved as the expression of the opinion and determination of this meeting that said bondholders insist,

First. That the road and its equipments be put and always kept in good condition.

Second. That the net earnings of the road over running expenses and repairs and renewals of road and equipments as made necessary from time to time, and over such expenditures and payments as may become necessary for depots and depot grounds and to protect and preserve all the rights and property of the company, shall be appropriated to pay the interest upon the bonded and mortgage indebtedness of the road in the order of priority of said securities.

Several gentlemen then discussed the resolutions. W. C. Crosby Esq., did not approve of them, but was in favor of adopting the proposition submitted by the Committee for the creditors. Hon. S. H. Blake addressed the meeting in support of his resolutions, and in opposition to the proposition of the creditors. The resolutions were then passed.

A plan, suggested by Hon. J. S. Wheelwright was discussed and favorably considered, that the trustees of the Consolidated mortgage bonds take possession of the road, thereby preserving the connection intact, and that a committee of the Land Grant bondholders be appointed to keep advised as to the management and see that the earnings be duly applied to the liquidation of interest etc., in the order of priority of the securities. Without taking action upon this proposal, a resolution was then offered by Hon. S. H. Blake, as follows:

Voted, that a committee be appointed to confer with the Directors of the E. & N. A. Railway Company, and those holding bonds on the New Brunswick road and those holding the Consolidated bonds, and report to an adjourned meeting.

A committee was then appointed, consisting of Hon. S. H. Blake, N. C. Ayer, S. F. Humphrey, Albert Holton and J. S. Wheelwright, to wait upon the Directors at their meeting in the evening, to consult with them and other mortgage holders as to the best plan of action, and to report at an adjourned meeting in City Hall to-day, at 1.30 P. M., to which time the land grant bondholders adjourned.

At the meeting of the Directors of the Railway Company in the morning no formal action was taken upon the resignation of M. H. Angell, Esq., as Superintendent, but it was understood that pending further action the road will be managed by the President with the assistance of General Freight Agent F. W. Cram as Acting Superintendent. At the meeting of the Directors in the evening, the committee appointed in the afternoon held a protracted consultation, and the result of their deliberations and conference will be reported at the meeting in City Hall this afternoon.

DEAR SIR, I am very happy to acknowledge the benefit I have received from the use of your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites. For upwards of twelve months I suffered most acutely from a severe cough, and a most violent Asthma, for the relief of which I tried everything I could hear of. I at last commenced the use of your Syrup, and after taking one bottle was able to attend to my avocation. I continued according to directions till I had used nine bottles which effected a perfect cure. With much gratitude, yours truly,

VEGETINE
Purifies the Blood, Renovates and Invigorates the Whole System.
Its Medical Properties are
ALTERATIVE, TONIC, SOLVENT AND DIURETIC.
VEGETINE is made exclusively from the juices of carefully-selected barks, roots and herbs, and so strongly concentrated that it will effectually eradicate from the system every taint of Scrofula, Scrofulous Humor, Tumors, Cancer, Cancerous Humor, Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Syphilitic Diseases, Canker, Faintness at the Stomach, and all diseases that arise from impure blood. Sciatica, Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Gout and Spinal Complaints, can only be effectually cured through the blood.
For Ulcers and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, Pustules, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, Tetter, Scaldhead and Ringworm, VEGETINE has never failed to effect a permanent cure.
For Pains in the Back, Kidney Complaints, Dropsy, Female Weakness, Leucorrhœa, arising from internal ulceration, and uterine diseases and General Debility, VEGETINE acts directly upon the causes of these complaints. It invigorates and strengthens the whole system, acts upon the secretive organs, allays inflammation, cures ulceration and regulates the bowels.
For Catarrh, Dyspepsia, Habitual Costiveness, Palpitation of the Heart, Headache, Piles, Nervousness and General Prostration of the Nervous System, no medicine has ever given such perfect satisfaction as the VEGETINE. It purifies the blood, cleanses all of the organs, and possesses a controlling power over the nervous system.
The remarkable cures effected by VEGETINE have induced many physicians and apothecaries whom we know to prescribe and use it in their own families.
In fact, VEGETINE is the best remedy yet discovered for the above diseases, and is the only reliable BLOOD PURIFIER yet placed before the public.
Prepared by
H. R. STEVENS, Boston, Mass.
Reliable Evidence.
MR. H. R. STEVENS:
Dear Sir—I will most cheerfully add my testimony to the great number you have already received in favor of your great and good medicine, VEGETINE, for I do not think enough can be said in its praise, for I was troubled over thirty years with that dreadful disease, Catarrh, and had such bad coughing spells that it would seem as though I could never breathe any more, and VEGETINE has cured me; and I do feel to thank God all the time there is so good a medicine as VEGETINE, and I also think it one of the best medicines for coughs and weak, sinking feelings at the stomach, and advise everybody to take the VEGETINE, for I can assure them it is one of the best medicines that ever was.

VALUABLE INFORMATION.
BOSTON, Dec. 12, 1869.
Gentlemen—My only object in giving you this testimonial is to spread valuable information. Having been badly afflicted with Salt Rheum, and the whole surface of my skin being covered with pimples and eruptions, many of which caused me great pain and annoyance, and knowing it to be a blood disease, I took many of the advertised blood preparations, among which was any quantity of Sarsaparilla, without obtaining any benefit until I commenced taking the VEGETINE, and before I had completed the first bottle I saw that I had got the right medicine. Consequently, I followed on with it until I had taken seven bottles, when I was pronounced a well man, and my skin is smooth and entirely free from pimples and eruptions. I have never enjoyed so good health before, and I attribute it all to the use of VEGETINE. To benefit those afflicted with Rheumatism, I will make mention also of the VEGETINE'S wonderful power of curing me of this acute complaint, of which I have suffered so intensely.

Important to the Ladies.
Ladies wishing to be fitted to Mrs Bettles' Combination Shoulder Brace Corset, will please call at 125 Hammond Street, or send in their order if they prefer to be fitted at their residence. Also the Reform Waist for Misses and Children, can be found at the same place. This Corset affords the best support to the figure, while at the same time it takes the weight of skirts from the waist and gives it a graceful form without binding it tightly. They cannot only be worn with the greatest ease and comfort, but they also serve the important function of a preventive of many of the diseases with which women are so often afflicted. It combines in itself qualities at once required and endorsed by physicians, singers and speakers, as well as by the media. It comes highly recommended to all ladies, and especially to young ladies, as the best Corset for their use.

This Entertainment will be the most brilliant and attractive of the kind ever given in this city, and I would call attention to the following fine notice from the Boston Journal of last Friday, [illegible]:
THE CAROLINE RICHINGS-BERNARD COMIC OPERA COMPANY. The first appearance of the Richings-Bernard Comic Opera Company took place last evening, when it gave the opening entertainment in Mr J. B. Field's Chelsea Lyceum course, at the [illegible] [illegible] Hall. [illegible] berg's opera, "The Rose of Tyrol." There was a large and cultivated audience, and the performance was brilliantly successful.
The music of "The Rose of Tyrol" is light and sparkling, yet never frivolous. There is [illegible] of bright, fanciful airs, which exhibit the composer in his most genial moods. The libretto is from the pen of Mr. E. B. Wood, and the pretty and romantic story is told in an amusing manner.
The opera is most charmingly acted and sung, the burden of the work falling upon Mrs. Richings-Bernard as Grittly, Mr Pierre Bernard as Franz, Grittly's lover, Mrs. Henri Drayton as Frau Schreckenwald, and Mr John J. Denitz as Berthold, the peddler. There is a finely drilled chorus (a double quartette), and three subordinate characters, Schreckenwald, the innkeeper, Fanchette and Gasper, sustained respectively by Mr. James Lorronge, Miss Millie Starling and Mr John Hoffner.
A more satisfactory performance was never witnessed on the operatic stage in the large cities, where many things are generally sacrificed to secure some degree of excellence in the case of one or two principal singers. Mrs. Bernard never looked more charming than in the pretty Tyrolean costume, and rarely, if ever, has she been heard to more decided advantage. The gifted lady appears to have fairly renewed her youth. The role affords considerable scope for acting, as well as opportunities for the display of her well trained voice, and in both respects her performance was admirable.
Mr. Bernard is not only a most excellent vocalist, but also a capital actor, and he catches the humor and spirit of the role of the foolish young peasant who permits his [illegible] to be turned by supposed [illegible] fortune, most happily. Mrs. Drayton gives a most spirited performance of the vixenish Frau Schreckenwald, and aids very greatly in the concerted pieces. [illegible] Mrs. Bernard and Mrs. Drayton was admirably done.
The costuming throughout was elegant and appropriate, and withal [illegible]. That "The Rose of Tyrol" will become an immense favorite wherever it is given by the Richings-Bernard Company is sufficiently well demonstrated.

THE HIVE AT GETTYSBURG.

BY J. G. WHITTIER.

In the old Hebrew myth, the lion's frame,
So terrible alive,
Bleached by the desert's sun and wind, became
The wandering wild bees' hive;
And he who, lone and single-handed, tore
Those jaws of death apart,
In after time drew forth their honeyed store
To strengthen his strong heart.

Dead seemed the legend; but it only slept
To wake beneath our sky;
Just on the spot whence ravening Treason crept
Back to its lair to die,
Bleeding and torn from Freedom's mountain bounds,
A stained and shattered drum
Is now the hive where, on their flowery rounds,
The wild bees go and come!

Unchallenged by a ghostly sentinel,
They wander wide and far,
Along green hill-sides, sown with shot and shell,
Through vales once shocked with war.
The low reveille of their battle-drum
Disturbs no morning prayer,
With deeper peace in summer noons their hum
Fills all the drowsy air.

And Samson's riddle is our own to-day,
Of sweetness from the strong,
Of union, peace, and freedom plucked away
From the rent jaws of wrong.
From Treason's death we draw a purer life,
As, from the beast he slew,
A sweetness sweeter for his bitter strife
The old-time athlete drew?

ART AND ARTISTS.

D. J. Strain's ideal heads of children, photographed from crayon, are becoming very popular, and are to be met with everywhere.

Helen M Knowlton spent the summer with several of her pupils at the Glen House White Mountains, and she contemplates building a studio there next season.

Madam Elizabeth Jerichau, a celebrated artist of Copenhagen, has announced her intention of contributing several pictures to the centennial exhibition.

Mr Rowse, it is said will soon sail for Europe for the purpose of turning his attention to the study of color. His reputation hitherto, as is well known, has been founded on the excellence of his crayon drawings.

A collection of fine water-colors, exhibited at Goupil's in New York, contains a series of nine original etchings by the late Spanish artist, M. Fortuny. They were executed in Rome in 1865-6, and are described as a fine specimen of the art.

John Rogers, the sculptor, was a clerk 20 years ago in a large machine shop at Manchester N. H., and his old friends there show their esteem for him by clubbing together in a project to place all his statuettes in the art rooms of the state house.

Philadelphians have the object in view of establishing an industrial art museum in the Quaker City, based upon a somewhat similar plan to that of the South Kinsington Museum, London, to be located in Memorial Hall at the close of the centennial exposition next year. A committee has the subject under consideration.

Toby E. Rosenthal, of Munich, has recently finished two companion pictures, which appear to be the most successful works he has ever produced. They are entitled "He who laughs last laughs loudest." These pictures attracted large numbers of people during their exhibition at the Art Union in Munich, and afterwards in Berlin, where the crowds in front of the shop window in which they were displayed obstructed the sidewalk and made it necessary for their owner to employ two gensdarmes to clear a passageway for pedestrians. These pictures are of a highly humorous character, and excite shouts of laughter from all beholders. It is to be regretted that, by a piece of trickery on the part of the purchaser of these pictures, Mr Rosenthal has been deprived of his copyright, as otherwise, photographic copies would have been sent to this country.

A DREAM THAT PARTED MAN AND WIFE. Bundy has been married two weeks and has left his wife. Bundy is a little man, and his wife weighs two hundred and forty pounds, and was the relict of the late Peter Potts. About ten days after marriage Bundy was surprised, on awakening in the morning, to find the better half sitting up in bed crying as if her heart would break. Astonished, he asked the cause of her sorrow, but receiving no reply he began to surmise that there must be some secret on her mind that she withheld from him that was the cause of her anguish, so he remarked to Mrs. B. that as they were married she should tell him the cause of her grief, if possible, he could avert it, and after considerable coaxing he elicited the following from her:

"Last night I dreamed I was single, and as I walked through a well-lighted street I came to a store where a sign in front advertised husbands for sale. Thinking it curious, I entered, and ranged along the wall on either side were men with prices affixed to them: Such beautiful men; some for $1000, some for $500, and so on to $150. And as I had not that amount I could not purchase."

Thinking to console her, B. placed his arm lovingly around her and asked:

"And did you see any men like me there?"

"Oh yes," she replied, drawing away from him, "lots like you; they were tied up in bunches like asparagus, and sold for ten cents per bunch."

Bundy got up, and went to see his lawyer if he had sufficient ground for divorce.

GLOSSED SHIRT BOSOMS—An old reliable washwoman says that the way she has retained her customers is by exercising great care and using the following preparation. Take two ounces of fine white gum arabic powder, put it in a pitcher and pour on a pint or more of water, and then, having covered it, let it stand all night. In the morning pour it carefully from the dregs into a clean bottle, cork and keep it for use. A teaspoonful of gum water stirred in a pint of starch, made in the usual way, will give to lawns, white or printed, a look of newness, when nothing else can restore them, after they have been washed. Norwich Bulletin.

UTILIZATION OF NATURAL GASES.—The constantly increasing utilization of natural gas for industrial purposes throughout the oil region of Pennsylvania and its neighborhood is attracting much favorable comment. The success of the puddling and heating furnaces at Erie, Leechburg and elsewhere in Pennsylvania, where the has experiment been thoroughly tried, seems to have attracted a wide spread interest to the subject and we now learn of schemes on foot to utiliz, the gas upon a large scale. Near Beaver Falls the gas issuing from a well 1100 feet deep is employed in a file factory at that place. It is also reported that the product of the great gas well in Butler county, Pa., will be brought to certain iron works at Pittsburg. The work of laying a pipe six inches in diameter and seventeen miles long is said to be contracted for, to be finished within a month. It is further reported that a project is being mooted to purchase all the gas wells in Butler county and bring their product to the Pittsburg manufactories. This last scheme, if successfully realized, would work quite an industrial revolution. But, whether feasible or not, the agitation of the subject is an indication that the question of utilizing the enormous volumes of valuable heating gas which have until the present been allowed to go to waste is at length receiving the attention it deserves.—American Exchange and Review.
